

I'm sorry to hear that you're feeling overwhelmed and frustrated with the team dynamics. If you need to talk or brainstorm ideas on how to improve team dynamics, please don't hesitate to reach out. It can be really tough when things aren't going smoothly with volunteers and everyone seems to be moving at a slow pace. I want you to know that it's okay to feel upset, tired, and even overwhelmed at times. We're all working towards the same goal, and sometimes challenges come up that we have to overcome together.