

For this project, I would recommend using an Agile methodology. The platform also provides features such as online payments, tenant screening, and maintenance requests. The user environment is a web-based platform that allows tenants to search for available apartments, landlords to list their properties, and property managers to manage the rental process. Additionally, Agile allows for flexibility and adaptability, which is important for a project like this, as it will likely require changes and adjustments as the project progresses.4