

The text explains the basic steps for sending a package. Start by selecting suitable packaging and making sure it's properly wrapped. If you have the necessary tools at home, you can calculate postage and drop smaller packages in a mailbox. For larger or express packages, visit the post office to have it weighed and pay the postage. Then, choose a delivery option based on how quickly the package needs to arrive, with options like surface mail, regular airmail, or express delivery.