Process Monitor is the first tool everyone turns to when they want to diagnose computer problems.Process Monitor also offers boot-time logging, non-destructive filtering, a log file format that retains all captured data, an API for injecting debug output into the capture, and much more.