

However, when considering the broader context of gender and race inequity within the management .team, it raises concerns about equal representation and diversity