

Old Archie needed some money. So he climbed onto the donkey. "I don't need a donkey," said the farmer. The donkey was very heavy, and they couldn't maintain a good speed. The donkey reacted by kicking. Tom and Archie dropped the donkey. Archie lost his donkey. He decided to sell his donkey. It was situated many miles away. "To town," said Archie. "Any smart person would ride the donkey," she said. "What are you implying?" Archie asked. Archie wanted to look smart. Then they continued in the direction of the town. Further along the road, they met a farmer. "Hello," said Archie. "Good idea," said Archie. Archie suggested the farmer. she asked
