

People must engage in anti-corruption activities in order to know how to act ethically and legally by respecting the rules of the community