

A grasshopper, a snail, and a centipede are relaxing in the grasshopper's house, when they realize that they are getting hungry. Finally, when an hour passes and the centipede still hasn't returned, the irritated snail and grasshopper decide to go look for him. The snail and grasshopper wait and wait. So they decide to send the centipede. The longer they wait, the hungrier they get