

Software engineers shall participate in lifelong learning regarding the practice of their profession and
.shall promote an ethical approach to the practice of the profession