Security program in a company must receive the full assistance of an entire organization starting with top management and moving through the roles to include executives, administrators and staff.