

Unity is an essential characteristic of a well-written paragraph in that the ideas in the supporting sentences are clearly connected to the main idea expressed in the topic sentence