Albert Einstein was a German-born physicist, although most people probably know him as the most intelligent person who ever lived.