

The girl replied, "Hey, my name is Nora, but what is your name?" Gina said: My name is Gina, and I was with you in elementary school in fourth grade, did you remember me? Nora said: Yes, I remembered you, we were together in the same classroom and many times we were sitting together. Gina said: How beautiful that coincidence that brought me together again, do you work in this company. Nora said: Yes, I work here, but what are you doing here, Jenna? Gina said: I finished my university a while ago and looking for a suitable job for my major, and I thought to start looking at that company. Nora said: Okay, I will help you, and then we go to drink coffee together and talk about what happened in our lives during the last period.
