

to make you more effective. Write down a list of all the systems you are currently running. Find out any opportunities to make them better. Secondly, get your back of house in order. Go through them with a fine tooth comb.