

The larger board size improves firm performance through better monitoring by a large group of people, and the larger board size brings a variety of expertise and knowledge in different areas, enhancing the firm's ability to create external linkages