

This interview helped to eliminate insignificant and repetitive diversity factors identified concerning their impact on the productivity of construction projects. The first two sections aimed to solicit