

A pinhole camera is a simple, lensless device that projects an inverted image using a small hole in a lightproof box.