

Social media collects your interaction data to personalize your feed using machine learning, improving relevance and engagement over time