

As we are at the Water is essential for life. Public awareness information campaigns should be augmented as a preliminary action to active conservation control, of domestic industrial and agricultural water use.