

The internet has a great importance in our daily lives it helps us to communicate with each other – wether they are friends, family, or even people from all over the world .it can lead to addiction and spending too much time can effelt mental and social health issues ?o People may also be exposed to .blackmail or online scams