

Nearly all land areas are seeing more hot days and heat waves; 2020 was one of the hottest years on record. Wildfires start more easily and spread more rapidly when conditions are hotter. Higher temperatures increase heat-related illnesses and can make it more difficult to work and move around.