This qualitative shift in communication methods is largely due to the integration of technology into our lives.