

Many employers in the United States, Canada, England, Australia, and other countries require that you
.be able to speak English as part of the job