Architectural Design focuses on the elements of a structure, as well as the aesthetic and function of the structure. The overall flow is important in Architectural Design.