

About COVID-19 Treatment Although there's no specific treatment for coronavirus, COVID-19 but? may be controlled by management, prevention, and supportive healthcare. There's no substantiation that ibuprofen or other non-steroidal anti-inflammatory medicines should be avoided. Treatment is aimed at relieving symptoms and includes ?- Pain relievers similar as ibuprofen or acetaminophen. You'll probably be asked to insulate yourself as much as possible from family members while you're sick, wear a mask when around people and near faves , and use a separate bedroom and restroom. And ameliorate air inflow in your home by opening windows and using air pollutants when possible. Also, Researchers are testing several potential treatments. Most people who come sick with COVID-19 will .only have mild symptoms and can get better at home. ?- fluids