

.Steel structures are more susceptible to melting at high temperatures, which reduces their safety