Obesity generally occurs due to eating too much food and moving too little. In conclusion about obesity, in addition to the importance of abstaining from eating fast foods and replacing them with healthy meals rich in protein, dietary fiber, and whole grains, one should consult a doctor if there is a genetic defect or if the weight gain is due to genetic reasons.