

The Phoneme ?the smallest contrastive unit of sound in a language capable of causing a difference of meaning. Such a contrast is usually demonstrated by the existence of minimal pairs. Phonemic symbols ??./are traditionally placed between slashes (e.g., /m/, /k/, /f/, /d/, /r