

At the outset, it is necessary to define the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia's vision for the year 2030, which is considered one of the largest development projects in the Middle East and the world. It has been defined as the Saudi plan for the post-oil phase, which is based on diversifying sources of national income