

A future job in the UAE is a renewable energy engineer. It also supports the UAE's plan for a sustainable future and creates new job opportunities for people. Their duties include designing systems, testing equipment, and solving technical problems.