Money is a means of exchange and financial value that can be used to purchase goods and services or to invest in them.Through this financial value, individuals can achieve goals and meet basic needs such as food, shelter, and health care, in addition to well-being and enjoyment of recreational activities.Money may contribute to providing financial comfort and achieving some goals, which increases the level of happiness.

lakhasly.com © تم تلخيص النص بواسطة موقع لخصلي