

Synergies are attained by productive teams, and these require bringing a shared goal to life via cooperation. Leaders develop and strengthen people by committing to a shared objective