

But Akara couldn't figure out how to get more light in the room. Can I draw a picture, so Grandma can see where things will go?" Akara asked. "That's exactly what a professional interior designer would do. We use computer programs to draw a type of map and sketch. It's so clever of you to reuse the crates and mirrors. A few days later, Akara sat down with Mealea to talk about what she had found. "The mirror .and crates are a great start," Mealea said. Akara replied. So she asked her mom for suggestions
