

Soak the soda in three quarters of a liter of water with salt dissolved in it, stirring so that the soda does not stick to the bottom of the container (it must be mineral). Grind the rosin and add it to the flour and talcum powder, then add the oil