

However, it's always a good practice to be informed and choose reputable brands to minimize potential risks.