

When technology, environment, or strategies change, organisations need to adjust their structures accordingly. The model is based on Mintzberg's work on organisational structure