

In a complex hierarchical network, enterprise servers are usually located centrally. Network clients are .not typically on the same subnet as those servers