

Training Methods Using three different training approaches, Oman Air teaches three different skills. Participants will engage in role plays, workshops, activities designed to foster teamwork, and group discussions as part of the training for interpersonal skills. The participation of participants is made possible by these training methodologies