

The last portion of the graph indicates the projections done based on the previous 12 months' sales data, and the results were quite positive. Hence, prescriptive analysis tools are quite helpful for future projections and optimized growth of a company. A time trend component was analyzed comparatively with the combined sales trend of GR and CMAVG, and the yellow curve indicates the projected integrated sales of both parts in the first quarter of 2023.