

As Beowulf is essentially a record of heroic deeds, the concept of identity of which the two principal components are ancestral heritage and individual reputation is clearly central to the poem. This concern with family history is so prominent because of the poem's emphasis on kinship bonds