

One day there was a boy named Martin. Each student would buy a fish and put it in a small bowl and? take care of it until the day the school takes them to release all the fish in the depths of the sea. His .school held a competition