

There are inconsistent findings on the effects of different pedagogies in AI courses. According to the PISA report (OECD, 2016), teacher-directed instruction is significantly associated with improved science performance in schools.