

Productivity, quality, advancement, responsiveness are the major components which can decide the_8 proficiency and viability of the directors within the organization. These preparing programs empower them to define client situated strategies which includes esteem to organizational execution. The directors are .given preparing programs which shapes them to be compelling, imaginative, responsive etc