

In Figure 1, one can see that a roller of mass m has been placed on an inclined plane making an angle θ with the horizontal. A downward force along the inclined plane is applied to the body by adjusting the suspended weights.