

o The Celts were the original inhabitants of England.o With the unchallenged supremacy of these three tribes, the English language started, around 450 A.D., the first chapter of its history in England.8/22/2023
2 Second Lesson 8/22/2023 Second Lesson 3 o The Saxons, Angles and Jutes were from the north-western part of Europe, i.e., from those parts of Europe which are known now as Sweden, Denmark, and northern Germany. o However, around 449 A.D., groups of barbaric invaders (the Saxons, Angles and Jutes) started pouring into the south and east of England.o By 450 A.D., the Saxons, Angles and Jutes firmly established themselves in the southern and eastern parts of England.o The Celts withdrew .into Wales in the west and the Scottish highland in the north