

Beauty is diverse and divided creatively, because the Creator Almighty divided it in a way that has beauty that is comparable to beauty itself. It does not matter if the beauty is internal or external, the important thing is that a person loves himself as God created him and tries to improve his bad qualities.