

It will be implemented for flexibly moving and sensing inner problems. Small surface-mount device (SMD) components with motor drivers will be utilized to control the robot's motion