

True friendship is built on caring, sharing, and honesty. It's a bond that endures even when people are physically apart. Friends provide support throughout life, sharing both joy and sorrow, making life's ups and downs easier to navigate.