Partner with local environmental organizations or water authorities to conduct water quality testing in nearby water bodies. Students can learn about the importance of clean water and the impact of pollution on water quality.