

Leonardo da Vinci: Often referred to as the "Renaissance Man," Leonardo da Vinci was a polymath who excelled in various fields, including art, science, engineering, and invention. His sketches and designs laid the groundwork for inventions such as flying machines and armored vehicles.